Johann Valera
Wildcats

November 18, 2015
ELA

"Each day I am thankful for nights that turned into morning, friends that turned into family, dreams that turned into reality, and likes that turned into love" by John F. Kennedy. Remember you're always thankful for something. Never say your thankful for nothing because there are probably at least two things you love. The most things I am grateful for are my family, house, and school.

I am thankful for my family. They support me whether I am right or wrong. In addition, they always if I am right but not others. For example, if I tell the truth and they know am not lying the would corrects the others. If they know I am wrong, they would explain what were my errors so that I can never repeat my errors. Additionally, if I get hurt they would care for me. If I am having trouble getting to have friends they would act like my friends. For example, if I want them to act how a friend does they would do it for me. I am also grateful for my house. I am lucky to have a place to sleep at. Unlike the homeless, who sleep in the streets and freeze to death, I have a warm and safe place to sleep at. My house is also a place were I can be organized and have privacy. I know many people need or want privacy so that they're not bothered. Or maybe, they need a place so they can be able to hang their clothes. I am lucky to have a space for my stuff and my comfort. I am grateful to have a roof to live under. Finally, I feel gratitude for being at school. At school, I get an education. Unlike some people, I am able to learn many different things, people, and in many different ways of doing stuff because of school.

I am able to have a better future through getting a good education. I get to learn and by learning and getting education, I am made rich.
I also get to be a greater model of how to act properly.
As a result of my education, I will be able to show people how to act properly and respect.
School helps me be able to do those things that may not do and lets me use and develop my talents. I am appreciative for many things this year but I am most thankful for my family, house, and school.
My family supports me. My house is where I am organized with my stuff and comfort. School is what can help me live happy. A family is what keeps love together. A house is what you live in, and school is what gives you what you need in the future. What do you appreciate your whole life? Think deeply about your response