There are many things in life that I have been given. These things have helped me to become who I am today. Some people may not have these things. Therefor I should be thankful for what I have and what I have been given.

One thing I should be thankful for is having a family. I have a loving family that takes care of me and loves me. They always protects me and I love them just as much. I should be thankful because some people dont have a family. In fact, some people don't have anyone that protects them or cares for them, but I do and I wouldnt love them more Another thing I should be thanful for is having caring friends. They are always there when I need them. They will always bring a smile to my face when I am sad or angry. They will always be on my side. Some people go through hard times without friends and they have to face problems themselves. I have people that help me and I am thankful!

Everyone should be thankful for what they have and appreciate it. They should think about how they are living right now which is the most thing that matters.
