Be Thankful For Everything You Have!

Chortles between two friends
On a sunny day hunting for shells
No find, sigh,
A search seeming not to end

From the corner of their eyes
They see a surprise
Finding a cute bear at shore,
Was the best day of their lives

Their level of gratitude was over the top
No one realized how much they were shocked
They were both so excited to play along
They both played with it for so long

Their time was indeed, a simple time
The smallest things they found sublime
Today, these things aren't appreciated as they were in those kids' time period

Us human beings need to understand
That everything we need is in our hands
From a small grape to a smartphone
Our voices of gratitude are under toned

We shall be grateful for what we own
Such as a house and a telephone
Clothing, shoes, food and water,
Are some things that make a person stronger

Be grateful for your owning
Such as a good education and a place to live
Trust me, I'm not trolling you shall always have gratitude and say "thanks" when they give

You should be thankful every day,

not only on thanksgiving

You should always say:

"Thank you for giving!"
