My Loving Parents

Many people have different things that they are thankful for. When people ask me what I am thankful for I say that of course I am thankful for my parents. They are the ones who brought me into this strange, but beautiful world. My parents were always there to support me when I was little. When I was little I know that I was a brat, but my parents were still always by my side. Even before school my parents educated me every single day ever since I could talk. My parents were very strict when I was little and I never knew why they yelled at me. As I started to grow up I started to understand why they yell at me for. Many kids get angry and annoyed by their parents because parents like to yell at us if we do something wrong. Parents yell at us to make sure that we don't make the same mistake again. Every kid does his once in their life, but they know that they could not do anything without the help of their parents. My parents were and still are very strict, but they mean the world to me. My mom is the one who likes to make me look pretty, but still appropriate. My dad is more about the school and home work. He makes sure I explain myself and show all my work. He also explains anything that I do not understand to me. We go on a lot of fun trips and we do a lot of things together. This is why I love my parents. Now tell me what you are thankful for and why because I am totally interested in what you are grateful for.
