What I am Thankful For

There is always, always, always something to be thankful for.

There are many things I am thankful for. One thing I am thankful for is food on the table. I am thankful for food on the table because there has been a study that 4 out of every 10 children go to bed hungry and I am thankful I am not one of those children. Throughout my life I have been taught never to waste food. That is one example of what I am thankful for.

Another example of what I am thankful for is family. I am thankful for family because family is something you can't buy. A lot of kids don't have families to come home to. Also, I am thankful for family because family is important and family is always going to be there for you. That is why I am thankful for my family.

I am thankful for the home I have. One reason is because a lot of people don't have homes to go to. A home to me is a safe environment to live in that you should appreciate. I am also thankful for my home because it makes me feel safe and secure. That is why I am thankful for my home.

I am also thankful for my health and strength. One reason is because some people might not even live to be eleven years old like me. Also, out in the world there are a lot of diseases and illnesses that make people ill. Plus, about 2 million people have been killed from AIDS and most of the victims were children as of January 2016. That is why I am thankful for my health and strength.

In conclusion, that is what I am thankful for. I have food on the table, family, a home and my health and strength. I have been fortunate to have all these things. That is all a person could ask for.
