

Thanksgiving Blessings

By Julia

Every person's lives are different made up of different faces and problems.

All around us some people don't have a place to call home, a shelter of some sort that protects you from icy wind and snow, the pitter of rain and shade from the cheerful sun. A bed that greets you after hard work when the day is done.

A kind loving family that encourages you from day to day or friends that you count on to play.

A place to learn your ABC's read, write, and more good food to eat and drink and warm clean clothes to wear.

A healthy body that feels good each day that can run, dance, and play.

I am very thankful for all these things and the little things too. Things like vacations to the beach and pretty shoes that are new.

Warm chocolate chip cookies, catching fireflies at night, getting lost in a good book, and hugs that hold me tight.

Relaxing weekends, roasting marshmallows, loving grandparents, popsicles, and Christmas carols.

Most of all I am thankful that God gives me a new day to enjoy the things that I am thankful for!
