THANKFUL ESSAY

There are many reasons for why I am thankful. I am thankful for my parents, my sister, my pets, and my house. I am thankful for all these things because they are very important to me. My next paragraphs will explain why.

I am thankful for my parents because they are always there for me. They both give me the equal amount of love and affection as they do towards my sister. They are so nice to me they probably give me everything I want I know im kind of spoiled but my parents love me for the person I am. My parents are both very smart, nice, and warm hearted. I love them so much!

I am thankful for my sister because shes really nice. I mean obviously we get into fights all the time but I love her and she loves me! And who do you think I talk to or hang out with when my friends are not over or im not over my friends houses, I talk to my sister and hang with her.

I am thankful for my pets because they are really fun to play with. They make me laugh alot too! I have a german shepard collie mix named Tucker. I also have a dwarf hampster named spark. I love them both but I love Tucker a little more because I got him first and I can actually play with him more. I love them both so much though!

I am thankful for my house because it gives me warmth and shelter. There are alot of people who dont have shelter or warmth and I feel awful and I wish I can
