

Tyler Murray

November 7, 2011

Writing

6-Tallmadge

Thankful for School

Some people hate school and wish that it was never made. But school is actually one of the things that I am thankful for. First of all, without school, I wouldn't have my iPad or iPods. Without school, I wouldn't know anything about math, science, social studies, books, ABCs, or know how to read. I wouldn't have my DSI or my PS3. I also wouldn't know how to cook good food either.

I'm really thankful for school because I learn a lot and I have the education I need. In Head Start I loved when the whole class made Smores. I didn't say school couldn't be fun. School can also be very annoying like when I got in detention or when I got homework on the weekend.

Yes school can be annoying I know. But I think positive in school. I feel like a smarter person every day I go to school. In social studies I hate studying about kings and pharaohs or how to do long division in math but it is worth it. I also dread learning about the laws of physics in science.

School can also stress me out. School can stress me out by not knowing stuff on my test, or knowing that I forgot my reading book for homework. Sometimes I also worry when I lose papers that I was supposed to hand in.

I hate school sometimes because of all the homework the teacher gave me. But...my homework helps me out with the next test I will have. It also depends how good I do on that test because if I get a low score like a 70% I have to get it signed and if I don't get a 70% or lower I will get a good grade on my test. Then the good grade on my test goes on my report card. If I do good on my report card I get a treat from my parents.

All that I am trying to say is that school is very helpful to everyone in this whole entire world and that's why I am thankful for school.

