

My Three Thanks

I am thankful for many things. I am thankful for a home, a brother and that I am an American.

I am thankful for a home because when I go to New York Ranger games, in New York City, I see thin, sad and hungry people sitting with signs and plastic cups. The signs usually say: Help! I'm hungry! Or: Please I need food! I feel bad and thankful at these times.

I am thankful for a brother because, when I'm bored he will play with me. One summer morning, when I was just sitting in front of my computer browsing all the websites I knew, trying to find a good game to amuse myself, he came by and asked me if I wanted to play a video game with me and I was so excited! And then, until lunch, we played on our Play Station 3. Even though he sometimes annoys me, he is a great, caring and most fun brother of all!

I am proud to be an American because I think that it has the best economy. I think it has the best economy because the citizens rule. Not a dictator, King or Queen can boss me around! And the government works for us, we don't work for the government.

There are lots of things I am thankful for, but these are the things I am most thankful for.
