

I'm Thankful for.....

Have you ever felt so close to a friend they feel like a brother or sister to you? Have your mom and dad divorced and he or she visits you only once a year? My friend Mariah means so much to me like a sister I love her. My mom and dad have been divorced since I was about 3 and my dad lives in Florida he visits me every thanksgiving. Mariah and my dad mean so much to me I love them both. I'm thankful they were brought into my life.

My BFF and I have been friends for 6 years. Mariah is the one who brightens my day, sometimes I'm sad but she will cheer me up in 1 minute. If I didn't meet Mariah my life would be so different that's why I hope she stays at this school for as long as I do. Mariah is like a twin sister to me; she helps me out through rough times and gives me advice. Also when I say she's like a sister mean I love her. When Mariah doesn't come to school I feel so lonely and left out of everything it feels just so different it's hard to explain. I'm just so thankful for her if I didn't meet her in first grade on the first day, I wouldn't get this far on my own. I'm thankful for my BFF Mariah so much.

This year my dad is coming up from Florida to see me for thanksgiving. I never get to see my dad only every thanksgiving that's like a year. Every Wednesday I talk to my dad on the phone but it's not the same as really talking to him. I kind of would like to visit him in Florida but only because I get to see him I'm not a fan of heat. My dad has another family but there really nice. Dads other family sometimes comes up for thanksgiving with him but not always. Every year I'm so thankful that he comes up, but whenever he comes up it is usually snowing so he has to find sweaters and stuff!! I'm just so thankful for every thanksgiving because of my dad.

Mariah and I will always be friends, when I think of her and when we meet a smile pops on my face. Mariah is the one who brightens my day she always will forever. I see my dad every thanksgiving and that tradition will never end. My dad and I are very close and it will always be that way I hope. I will be close with Mariah and my dad forever and ever.
