

Thankfulness essay

Have you ever experienced a parent loving you so much? Have you ever experienced a parent that would die for you? The first time my parents held me they knew that they loved me. My dad and mom would give their life for me if they had to. My dad almost did. You should really live for your parents. Tell them you would give your life for them. Tell them you love them each and every day.

Of all the people in the world, I am most thankful for my parents. I love them and I am thankful for them because they buy me new clothes every month. For example, my mom went to work on Saturday and brought home some new clothes for me on her birthday. They also buy me a lot of presents. I usually get about 30 gifts for Christmas every year. One of them is usually a big gift and the others are just small in comparison to that one. They always tell me that they love me. Every morning when my dad leaves for work he says "I love you". Then my mom drops me off at school and before I get out of the car she says "I love you. Have a good day". I love my parents and am very thankful for them.

The person's health I care about most is my dad. I care because he was recently hit by a car while walking to work and he lived through it. He came after being released from the emergency room at the hospital and gave me a gigantic hug. He is well enough that he was able to return to work to support our family. He is also able to make dinner for us when he needs to. I am so thankful for him being okay. It makes me so happy. He is such a nice dad and I love him very much.

Shannon Belt
November, 18, 2011

ELA
Ms. Miller

In conclusion, I am very grateful that my parents love me. I am very thankful that my dad is okay and on the road to recovery. I love both of my parents so much. I wish there was a way for me to show them how grateful I am.