I am very thankful during this time of year. I'm most thankful for having food. Some people, like homeless people, don't get very much food at all. I get food every day. Also I get three meals a day instead of one. The fact that we have enough money to get food is spectacular. Also having a family is another thing I'm grateful for. They are very caring. My mom even got me a phone so that she can know where I am all day long. Having a brother that takes care of me when my mom's not home is phenomenal. Also my grandma and grandpa come to holidays and, birthdays to say hi and make sure we're all right. Plus my brother keeps me from getting in trouble. Like one time I was jumping on my bed and my brother told me to stop or I would get in trouble. I didn't listen and the bed broke. Another thing I'm thankful for is having heat and warmth. I have very flocculent blankets which my mom and I bought one for everybody before winter started last year. Also having clothes gives me a lot of heat. I get short sleeve and long sleeve shirts every year before I go to school. Also I get pants and shorts before we start the school year. My mother also buys me new shoes every year. We also get our heater checked every year to make sure the heat still works. These are only some things I can be thankful for.
