

THE HOSPITAL AND TWO WEEKS LATER

BY:MICHAEL JAGER

There are many things we are thankful for in our life like friends, family, and life. We can think of many things we are thankful for in our life, but what about this past year, 2011. Well I know someone who can. This is the story about Michael Jager who had a terrible disease called strep and had to get his tonsils removed on his birthday at the hospital. Now here is the story told by Michael Jager.

I was in mom's car on the way to the hospital terrified because I was having my tonsils removed. On my way I was saying god please help me.

When I was in the place, where I got my tonsils removed and for other things like surgery like I did, I looked around the room while in a wheel chair. Then I got off it and lay down on a warm bed. They put a silly mask on me that can make me fall asleep. I really don't know why. It smelled like cherries. They put it on me and I saw nothing for three seconds and then woke up. I thought it didn't even start yet but it was over.

When I got home I felt as horrible as mush. For the next two weeks I lay on my couch watching TV because that's all I could do. On one of the days my parents and brother gave me a wonderful birthday.

And that's one of the many things I am thankful for, the people who helped out from the doctors to my parents.
