What I Am Thankful for This Year

I am thankful for food, my home or my warm shelter, clothing, but mostly I am thankful for my parents. They care for me. They love me. They cook for me. They do almost everything for me. They bring me to school so I can get a good education; I want to be a scientist. They give me breakfast every morning so I will not be hungry. They even take care of me when I am sick and give me medicine to make me feel better. They also take me on trips during the summer.

I remember years ago when I was four or five years old, my mom took all of us to Splish Splash on Long Island. I went on many rides. My favorite ride was the elephant ride. It had a pool with a fake little elephant in the middle, and when you go in it, you slide down and go into the water. It was fun. There was another ride I wanted to go on. All of my sisters went on it because they were tall enough, but I couldn't go on it because I was too short. While my sisters were riding, my mom took me to enjoy other rides.

I am so thankful for is my parents because if they weren't here, then I might not get treated well by others. They are my protection. If my parents didn't exist, I would have to do everything myself. That is why I am mostly thankful for my parents.
