

I am thankful for my family because they are nice to me they protect me and teach to me. I am also thankful for my family because they love me and they play with me. They also make me crafts and help me for an instant.

I am thankful for my family because they are nice to me. They protect me and teach me. One time my dad taught me how to play tennis and another time my mom protected me from a car that was whizzing by.

I am also thankful for my family because they love me and they play with me. One time my little brother and sister played with me outside and my mom played bingo with me.

We like to make crafts together because it is fun. We make animals with origami and we cut, paste and make it out of construction paper.

Family helps each other. For an instant my mom teaches me my Japanese homework and I help her with the American language. My little sister makes me feel happy and I teach my little sister how to kick a ball.

They are special because they do special things to me for an instant they will calm me down when I am sad and when I get sick they make me feel better. All these things make my family special and makes me thankful for them.

By Mika Misawa