

Natalie Hernandez
November, 2011
Thanksgiving
Dr. Mayerson

Thanksgiving is not only about the pie, turkey, stuffing, and all the different kinds of food. It's about what you're thankful for like your family, friends, shelter, and ect. It's the day that you show 100% appreciation on what you're thankful for. This is the true meaning of thanksgiving. So here are the things I'm thankful for.

I am thankful for my family. The family members that mean the most are my mom, dad, and my three sisters. I am thankful for my dad because he gave me all the things I need in life. My dad has always been there for me even when I was sick. He supplies me with the things to survive in life. So that's why I'm thankful for him. I am also thankful for my mom because whenever I'm depressed or I'm having personal issues, she's always with me. My mom always knows what to say when I am in that position. I'm thankful for my sisters because they understand me very well and they are my best friends. So those are family members that I'm thankful for.

I am also thankful to have shelter and food to survive. I realized that many kids and families don't have shelter nor food and water. So I'm grateful that I am one of those lucky kids in the world to have a roof over my head and food/water to survive. Without shelter and food it's hard to survive in harsh weathers. So that's why I'm thankful to be able to have food and shelter to survive.

Another thing that I'm grateful for is to get education because my parents came here from another country so I could have better education than they ever had. Some kids don't get education because they can't afford it. So I'm lucky that my parents can provide me with good education. Unlike kids who can't afford they have a very small chance on getting a good career. So since I am able to get education, I'm doing my work and the right things, so I can show how much this means to me to be able to get education. So that's why I'm thankful to get good education.

Thanksgiving is not only about the turkey and food. It's about being grateful for the things that other people might not have. Also showing 100% appreciation on what you're thankful for. There is a saying that says "Praise the lord. Give thanks to the lord, for he is good; his love endures forever." That means to give thanks to the lord because he gave you many things to be thankful for. Also there's another saying: "Thanksgiving was never meant to be shut up in one day." This explains that we should always be grateful, no matter what day it is. So that's the true meaning of thanksgiving.