

To Our Beloved:

By: Destiny Marino

You have guided us through the years with pride.

As a new year comes around, we have grown.

No matter what, our love for you won't die,

For your lessons have taught us right from wrong.

We consider you as our own father;

Your actions make us believe this is true.

You are a wonderful motivator,

Because of that, no one will go askew.

From your vigilant watch, we have become

People that our parents want us to be.

You didn't need to leave us any crumbs,

For us to realize the right path to see.

I do know that I can speak for the team.

Barry, you are very special, I believe.
