

Teronn Deonté Wood
November 17, 2011

What Am I thankful For this Year?

I am thankful for many things this year. The food on my table, the roof over my head, and the clothing on my back. I am also thankful for getting a good education so far.

I'm also thankful for my mother and father. Without them, I wouldn't be here. I'm thankful for my mom because she comforts me and understands me. She provides food for me and always make sure that I'm okay because she cares. I am thankful for my father because he goes to work every morning so that we will have everything we need, and he doesn't have to, but he does it because he cares.

I'm mainly thankful for my life. I'm thankful for being able to wake up in the morning and see another day, because many people don't have that opportunity. Many people die in their sleep, but even though from time to time we may run into some problems, and I may not feel like getting up in the morning, I'm still thankful for my life.

To me, Thanksgiving is about getting together and spending quality family time and being grateful to have a family and recognizing that we should always be happy and thankful for everything.

Every Thanksgiving, my grandma invites us over and cooks a nice big dinner, and I really enjoy that, but I also enjoy when before we eat, we all hold hands, stand around the table, and give thanks to God for everything we have, and we share and cherish special memories we had or things we might have went through and we are thankful for it.