

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Frank Padavan

Padavan and Local Residents Celebrate 35th Anniversary of Queens County Farm Museum at Annual Queens County Fair

FRANK PADAVAN September 28, 2010

| ISSUE: ARTS AND CULTURE, HISTORICAL PRESERVATION

New York State Senator (Queens) joined thousands over the weekend at the 28th Annual Queens County Fair at the Queens County Farm Museum in Floral Park. This year the Queens County Farm Museum celebrates their 35th anniversary. Since its foundation, Senator Padavan has been a driving force behind the legislative and community efforts to protect and preserve the Queens County Farm Museum. The annual fair provides an opportunity for families and residents from Queens and the surrounding areas to enjoy a traditional agricultural fair and learn more about the rich history of New York's oldest continuously operating farm. Senator Padavan takes part in an arm wrestling contest at the Queens County Fair on Saturday September 25, 2010.