A Message for All of Our Students

It's hard to be believe, but the summer is quickly coming to an end, and this week, thousands of children around our community headed back to school, starting a new school year.

Whether you are at the same school you were a year ago, or beginning a new adventure at a new building, I would like to wish you all the best for a very successful 2012-2013 school year.

First Day of School at Flower City School

I had the privilege to join the students, faculty, and staff at Flower City School #54 in the city for their first day of school! Students had the opportunity to meet City of Rochester School District Superintendent Bolgen Vargas and take part in activities on The Green Machine. For more information on The Green Machine, and for more photos from the first day of school, visit my Facebook page.
