Halloween Safety Part 1

Next weekend, your kids will be going door to door trying to gather as much candy as possible while trick-or-treating on Halloween.

Perhaps you haven't found a Halloween costume just yet for your son or daughter. While you often consider safety around candy and going trick-or-treating, there are also some things to keep in mind while costume shopping.

- Purchase costumes that are light and bright enough for motorists to see
- Make sure the costume is short enough to prevent tripping or falling
- Accessories, such as swords and knives, should be plastic and flexible

Next week, I'll have general safety tips to stay safe. and have fun, while trick-or-treating.

Charlotte Harbortown Bingo Night

On Wednesday night, I had the honor to visit with residents at Charlotte Lakeview Apartments. While I was there, I also took part in Bingo night by calling numbers. Residents had a great time and were treated to snacks and beverages, along with a night of bingo. I was also fortunate enough to visit with residents on Thursday evening for bingo at Charlotte Riverview Apartments. Thank you to everyone who came out.
