Addabbo Asks Constituents to Fill Out Quality-of-Life Questionnaire

JOSEPH P. ADDABBO JR. November 27, 2023

Senator Addabbo looks through the many constituent questionnaires that have come to his offices.

Senator Joseph P. Addabbo, Jr., through a district-wide mailer, sent a Quality-of-Life Questionnaire to households of his constituents, asking them to answer questions that will help him better assist the community in the coming year and legislative session.

The questionnaire is short but asks important questions like what the constituent feels is the most important issue facing their community and what events they would like Senator

Addabbo's office to offer in the future. In addition, residents are asked to rank issues in order of importance and rate quality of life services from one to five with one being the best and 5 being the worst.

Senator Addabbo is pleased by the overwhelming response so far with many people completing the surveys by mailing them in, dropping them off at his offices or filling them out online.

Expressing his appreciation for the enthusiastic response from the community, Senator Addabbo stated, "It's so very important that we get that feedback from the community because it is immensely helpful as I plan the upcoming year and be the best elected official for the community that I can be. My constituents expressing their concerns and interests to me is critically important in the work that I do, and the tremendous response so far underscores the community's eagerness to actively participate in the democratic process by contributing their perspectives and aspirations for the betterment of the district."
