

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Dean G. Skelos

A Day for Remembrance

DEAN G. SKELOS September 11, 2009

While eight years have passed since that tragic morning, no amount of time can erase the grief or ease the loss that so many families suffered that day. I hope everyone will take some time to remember the victims of September 11th and their families, respect the heroes who put their lives in danger to save so many others and look ahead towards peace.