New Yorkers Facing Mounting Legal Crises Meet Senate Leaders

(New York, NY)-Committed to meeting the needs of individuals and families facing foreclosure, and other civil legal issues, New York State Senators John Sampson and Ruth Hassell-Thompson will be holding a joint hearing on Wednesday, December 9 in Manhattan to explore the devastating and long lasting effects on New Yorkers who rely on civil legal services that may no longer have access to them due to the financial crisis that the New York State Interest On Lawyer Account Fund (IOLA) is facing. Testimony will be heard exploring the dire need for funding to IOLA, which due to the economic recession and drop in interest rates is experiencing a dramatic loss in funding. The IOLA Fund, in existence since 1983, is used as a means to provide additional financial support to civil legal service organizations. The money is used to provide legal representation to people in dire circumstances who are facing, foreclosure actions, unemployment hearings, landlord tenant eviction proceedings, domestic violence, Social Security Disability, fair hearings and many other legal actions. Additional hearings will be held on Wednesday, December 16 in Buffalo and Thursday, January 7, 2010 in Albany.
