Town of Babylon History Museum Unveiled

OWEN H. JOHNSON July 9, 2010

Senator Owen H. Johnson joined Babylon Village Mayor Ralph Scordino and Babylon Town Supervisor Steve Bellone, among many others, for the unveiling of the Town of Babylon History Museum at the newly restored Old Town Hall on June 11, 2010.

The brand new Town of Babylon History Museum includes exhibits celebrating the 100th anniversary of the electric trolleys and the 175th anniversary of the Long Island Rail Road. The Museum includes old jail cells from the old Town of Babylon Police Department, and an interactive media-table with hundreds of historic photos and oral history videos. All museum tours are free.
