“I am humbled and flattered by this appointment and appreciate the confidence Senators Skelos and Maziarz have expressed in me,” said Mr. Girasole. “I look forward to working with the Board and the Department of State in elevating our profession.”

“Tony clearly brings a wealth of experience, education, knowledge, and tradition to the table,” Senator Maziarz said. “I was honored help him earn a seat on this important board, and I have every confidence that he will make many important contributions to the real estate appraisal profession in New York.”

Mr. Girasole worked in the family business, Girasole Appraisal Company, for more than two decades, and served as its president for 13 years. His father previously served on the state Real Estate Appraisal Board in the early 1990s.
