The Babylon Village Historical and Preservation Society Building had its 100th Anniversary celebration on October 23, 2011. The building, at 153 West Main Street in Babylon, is home to the Village Museum where an exhibit of posters depicting historical images of the Village was on display for this year's centennial celebration. After the event the exhibit was put in a time capsule intended to be opened at the 200th Anniversary Celebration in 2111.
