Senator Fuschillo Statement on Martin Luther King Day

CHARLES J. FUSCHILLO JR. January 15, 2012

"This Monday, we pay tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., an American hero who gave his life fighting for equality.

Dr. King devoted himself to improving the lives of others. As both a minister and civil rights activist, he led the fight for tolerance, justice, and human rights. He shared his dream for our country and inspired a nation to grow and change for the better.

Let us remember Dr. King's many accomplishments and legacy of service, but most importantly, never forget that one person truly does have the power to make the world a better place."
