WHAT: Senator Andrew J. Lanza is partnering with Be The Match® (the National Marrow Donor Program® (NMDP) Registry) to help find a life-saving donor for Staten Island resident Stephen Curatolo (and other patients with life-threatening blood diseases). Curatolo is battling Stage 4 Hodgkin's Lymphoma. Thanks to reporting by the Staten Island Advance, Senator Lanza was alerted to the plight of Mr. Curatolo and will host a donor drive at his district office on Saturday, February 16th. Be The Match® offers the unique opportunity to give a life-saving marrow transplant to someone in need. Thousands of patients with leukemia or other life-threatening disease depend on the Be The Match Registry®, the largest and most diverse registry in the world, to find a life-saving donor. Edward Serventi & Son will provide 150 hotdogs to those who attend the drive. It should only take about 20-30 minutes total to join the registry and possibly save a life. For more information about joining the registry open the attached document. Click here to read the Staten Island Advance article about Stephen Curatolo.
