State Senator Patty Ritchie recently attended Jefferson Rehabilitation Center's Annual Membership Dinner Meeting, speaking to attendees about the importance of the organization and recognizing JRC for its role in the community.

Founded in 1954, JRC has provided programs and services to countless developmentally disabled children and adults in the Jefferson County area and currently serves more than 1,000 individuals and their families annually. In addition, JRC is also a major employer in the North Country, with more than 650 staff members.
