A close-up photograph of a white piece of paper, possibly a sticky note, with the words "Job Openings" written in large, bold, red, hand-drawn style letters. The paper is slightly crumpled and has a soft shadow beneath it.

Senator Andrew Lanza today announced that more than 115,000 available jobs, a new record high, are now listed on the Jobs Express website (www.jobs.ny.gov). The site sorts thousands of jobs by region and occupation, and also allows users to search jobs based on zip code and travel distance. There is also a one-stop-shop website that provides information and resources for Jobs Express at <https://www.ny.gov/services/find-job>.

The new record high in available jobs is an indicator of an improved economy, as well as an indicator of the success businesses have in using the site. In March 2015, New York State's private sector job count increased by 8,600 to 7.75 million, reaching a new all-time high.

New businesses and job listings are added to the Jobs Express site every day.
