(Bronx, NY)- Senator Serrano appeared on BronxNet Television's OPEN 2.0, where he discussed issues facing students and youth in our community. Senator Serrano expressed the need for more mentorship and internship opportunities to help give our youth a broad array of career paths to choose from.

"Many thanks to the amazing local high school students who put together my showing of OPEN 2.0 on OPEN BronxNet Television. From cameras to lights to sound, and all production aspects in between, they did an terrific job putting together this live television program. These youngsters are our future and our future looks bright. It is opportunities like these that enable our youth to explore different interests and career paths," said Senator Serrano.
