

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Frank Padavan

Another Successful Fair at the Queens County Farm Museum

Frank Padavan

April 1, 2009

Senator Frank Padavan (Queens) joined thousands of Queens residents and families over the weekend of Saturday, September 20 and Sunday, September 21 for the 26th Annual Queens County Fair at the Queens County Farm Museum in Floral Park.

The annual event allows the Queens community to enjoy the rich cultural history of the oldest continuously operating farm in New York State in a county fair atmosphere with games, carnival rides, food and competitions for crafts and agricultural. Senator Padavan was the driving force in the legislative and community efforts to protect and preserve the Queens County Farm Museum. Senator Padavan walks the rope bridge as part of a demonstration set up by Boy Scout Troop 405 during the Queens County Fair at the Queens County Farm Museum.
