Subway Service Resumed at 181st Street Station

ERIC T. SCHNEIDERMAN August 31, 2009

| ISSUE: TRANSPORTATION

I am happy to report that the 181st Street Station on the 1 line has reopened. As of 5:00 am today, subway service, which was disrupted over the last several weeks as a result of the ceiling collapse at the 181st Street Station, has been completely restored.

I understand your frustration with the inconvenience caused by the closure of this station, but I am confident this situation was resolved as quickly and safely as possible.
