

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

William T. Stachowski

Potential Job Training Opportunity

WILLIAM T. STACHOWSKI September 27, 2009

| ISSUE: CONTINUING EDUCATION

| COMMITTEE: COMMERCE, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND SMALL BUSINESS

The emerging life sciences economy in Western New York offers the region and its workers unprecedented opportunities. But many in Western New York mistakenly assume you have to be a scientist to work in the industry. A new University at Buffalo workforce development program, isciWNY, is reaching out to the entire community, providing skills and training that prove that the new life sciences economy benefits everyone. For more information about program, go to <http://www.isciwny.com>.