On Saturday, November 21st, Senator Frank Padavan (Queens) hosted his annual Fall Community Health and Wellness Expo at Our Lady of the Snows Church in Floral Park. Throughout the late morning and early afternoon, families, seniors and residents were able to access free health services including screening and information related to their health and wellness. Free services included testing for blood pressure, glucose and cholesterol, body fat analysis, dental screenings, hearing screenings and vision screenings. Community health and wellness experts were also on hand to discuss information on nutrition, weight and stress management. Senator Padavan with the team from the Friends of The Congressional Glaucoma Caucus Foundation outside their mobile vision testing station at Padavan's Fall Community Health and Wellness Expo .
