

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Betty Little

Christmas Eve March Honors Soldiers

BETTY LITTLE January 5, 2010

| ISSUE: NATIONAL GUARD

State Senator Betty Little participates in the annual Queensbury National Guard Soldiers Christmas Eve March, a tradition to recognize the sacrifices being made by all American soldiers and service members who are serving away from their families.

New York Army National Guard Soldiers assigned to the Queensbury Armory, local veterans and families of those serving our nation spent the morning of Christmas Eve conducting a three to five mile march to express support for their loved ones serving in Iraq, Afghanistan and locations around the world.
