

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Michael F. Nozzolio

Mike Nozzolio Confers with Dean Kathryn Boor

MICHAEL F. NOZZOLIO February 10, 2014

New York State Senator Mike Nozzolio recently conferred at the State Capitol with Kathryn Boor, Dean of the Cornell College of Agriculture and Life Sciences. Dean Boor updated Senator Nozzolio on the world class research taking place at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva. The research and innovation pioneered at the Experiment Station is playing an integral role in supporting job growth and economic revitalization in our area. Dean Boor thanked Senator Nozzolio for his extensive efforts to provide the funds necessary to modernize and revitalize the research facility, create the Finger Lakes Viticulture Center, and provide applied research that is making New York farmers more productive. Senator Nozzolio earned a bachelor's degree in labor relations and a master's degree in public administration and agricultural economics from Cornell University.
