June 5, 2014

Thank you to the staff and families at the Anderson Center for Autism for inviting me to help kick off their annual Autism Tomorrow Conference. In my first term of office we've taken important steps towards restoring crucial funding for the OPWDD and providing workers with the Cost of Living Adjustment that they deserve, however, we still have a great deal of work ahead. I remain committed to advocating in New York State for those with developmental disabilities, their families, and those who have dedicated their lives to supporting them.
