

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Joseph E. Robach

New York Power Electronics Manufacturing Consortium

JOSEPH E. ROBACH July 16, 2014

| ISSUE: ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

I joined my colleagues in State government to announce the newly created New York Power Electronics Manufacturing Consortium. This consortium will create thousands of jobs across New York, including 500 here in Rochester, and will focus on developing and manufacturing the next generation of materials used on semiconductors. This is a great example of public-private partnership that will benefit the entire community by creating new jobs and investing in our region.