Senator Bonacic was pleased to meet and speak with medical students from Touro College's Middletown Campus today in Albany. The students were in Albany as part of the New York State Osteopathic Medical Society's lobby day. The Middletown campus opened its doors to students in August of 2014 and trains those students in a holistic approach to the practice of medicine. With several major hospitals surrounding the college, Touro students are well positioned to continue their work serving the residents on the Hudson Valley after they graduate.
