Senator Sue Serino invites local veterans to a series of appreciation events being held throughout the community.

“While words are rarely enough to truly thank our veterans—and their families—for the countless sacrifices that they make on our behalf, it’s important that we take every opportunity to show our gratitude and that’s what these events are all about,” said Senator Serino. “They’re an opportunity for local vets and their guests to come together, share a meal, learn about some unique resources available to them, and more importantly, to remind them that they have an incredibly grateful community behind them.”

The events are as follows:
