State Senator Patty Ritchie is reminding local families she will host “Stories With Santa” on Tuesday, December 8th at Watertown’s Flower Memorial Library.

The free event will take place from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and will feature readings of classic Christmas books by Santa, as well as snacks and beverages.

“The Christmas season has inspired so many classic tales,” said Senator Ritchie. “I’m excited to welcome children and families to the beautiful Flower Memorial Library Tuesday to hear Santa read some of his favorites and of course, enjoy his favorite snack—milk and cookies.”

Among the holiday stories read will be “The Polar Express.” Children attending are invited to wear their pajamas to the event, like the characters in the book.

Those interested in attending are encouraged to RSVP and can do so by calling (315) 782-3418 or by clicking here.
