Senator Mike Nozzolio recently met with students from Lansing High School during their visit to the State Capitol. The group met with Senator Nozzolio to discuss the Liberty Partnerships Program. Established in 1988, the Liberty Partnerships Program offers comprehensive pre-collegiate/dropout prevention programs and services to youth across

New York State.

“Nothing is more important than our children's education,” said Senator Nozzolio. “It was a pleasure to meet with these outstanding students and to speak with them about the Liberty Partnership programs and helping fellow students prepare for the transition into higher learning establishments.”
