WHEREAS, The Girl Scouts of America and its members are dedicated to the development of character and leadership in the youth of this Nation; and

WHEREAS, Since 1919, Senior Girl Scouts have sought to cap their years in Girl Scouting with the prized Girl Scout Gold Award, which challenges girls to change the world; and

WHEREAS, In order to earn the Girl Scout Gold Award, a girl must complete a rigorous set of service, leadership development, and skill-building tasks leading up to the final and most challenging requirement, the design and completion of a Take Action Project; this project must be an issue of interest to the girl and her community, employ team-based solutions, and educate and inspire others; and

WHEREAS, For her Take Action Project, Erin Marie St. John created a website entitled EMPOWERYOURPATH.WEEBLY.COM; the website lists various careers including a description of each one, what education is required, and personal interviews with professionals who explain why they love their job, why they feel gratified pursuing their career and what advice they would offer a young adult considering that career path; and WHEREAS, Erin Marie St. John's website grew out of a concern that high school students are expected to have a determined career path in mind and be able to commit to a profession which they may know little about, or to choose a college major without knowing what fields of interest may be available to them; and

WHEREAS, This outstanding young woman has been involved in Scouting for years, has lived up to Scouting's ideals and has attained all of the necessary achievements; and
