Senator Gallivan Appoints New Chief of Staff

JIM RANNEY August 8, 2017

Senator Patrick M. Gallivan, (R-C-I, Elma) announces the appointment of Keith Bryan as his Chief of Staff. Bryan has worked on the Senator's staff since Gallivan was elected in 2010, most recently serving as Operations Manager. Bryan will take over for Anthony Baynes, Jr., who is joining the Amherst Chamber of Commerce as president on September 5.

"I am confident that Keith will help lead our dedicated staff in serving the residents of the 59th Senate District," Gallivan said. "Over the past seven years, Keith has worked in Albany and our District Office, serving as a valuable liaison between the Legislature, government agencies, community leaders and constituents. His experience and professionalism are true assets to our District.”

Bryan is a Western New York native who resides in Buffalo with his wife and two daughters.
