Pamela Helming

Senator Helming Honored With Association of Conservation Districts Award

PAMELA HELMING October 25, 2017

CAZENOVIA – Senator Pam Helming attended the New York Association of Conservation Districts (NYACD) annual banquet on Wednesday, Oct. 19 at the Hampton Inn & Suites in Cazenovia and received an appreciation award for her efforts to protect the environment and the natural resources in the our region. NYACD unifies the Directors of local Soil and Water Conservation Districts across New York State to provide leadership in the wise use of water and natural resources. As a Town Supervisor and as a State Senator, Senator Helming has worked with NYACD and similar organizations to advocate for the protection of our natural resources.

“As the Senate Chair of the Legislative Commission on Rural Resources, I understand firsthand how vitally important the work of NYACD and similar organizations is in preserving and protecting our agricultural lands and natural resources. From my personal experiences, I know that our farmers and our communities depend on the work that conservation districts do to protect our water and environment. This is why I continue to advocate for the important work of Soil and Water Conservation districts throughout our great state,” Senator Helming said.

Senator Helming represents the 54th Senate District, which consists of Seneca and Wayne Counties, parts of Cayuga and Ontario Counties, and the towns of Lansing and Webster. For more information, please visit Senator Helming’s website, or follow @SenatorHelming on Facebook or Twitter.
