GENEVA – Senator Pam Helming presented legislative proclamations to the honorees at the 49th annual Seneca County Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting and awards presentation. The award recipients included former Senator Mike Nozzolio – Lifetime Achievement; Seneca White Deer Inc. President Dennis Money – Citizen of the Year; Waterloo Library and Historical Society Director Brandi Rozelle – Rising Star; and Muranda Cheese Company – Business of the Year.

“The Finger Lakes region is fortunate to have so many distinguished citizens who demonstrate dedication and commitment to our community through their service in a variety of ways. Leaders like Senator Nozzolio, who represented our region for more than 30 years, and Dennis Money, who advocated for preserving and protecting our legendary white deer. Individuals like Brandi Rozelle, who has shown a passion for childhood literacy, and the Murray family of Muranda Cheese Company, one of our area’s most exceptional small businesses. The Seneca County Chamber of Commerce chose a group of truly deserving and worthy individuals in selecting its annual awardees. It was a privilege to honor these people who embody the best of our community, and I wish them all much success in all of their future endeavors,” Senator Helming said.
