Yesterday, the College at Brockport held two ribbon-cutting ceremonies to officially open their new Academic Success Center and Eagle Hall, a new 260-bed residence hall. As a SUNY Brockport graduate, Senator and member of this community, I was happy to be on hand to help celebrate this progress for students on the Brockport campus. When we put capital funding into the state budget for the SUNY system, I work tirelessly to help ensure that funding is allocated to our local SUNY campus, for the benefit of the students at Brockport and our entire community.
