Senator Fred Akshar and Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) Broome, Tioga and Chenango Counties are proud to present the 2019 Tri-County Farm Trail, featuring 19 locations across the 52nd Senate District.

Each spring and fall, local farms from Broome, Tioga and Chenango Counties open their doors for the public to experience agriculture hands-on through farm tours, various activities, specialty food tastings and more!

The Spring 2019 Farm Weekend will be May 4th and 5th and the Fall 2019 Farm Trail is October 5th and 6th from 10am-4pm. Nineteen farms and farm-sourced markets will be participating this year.

Senator Fred Akshar said, "Local agriculture is the backbone of our community, with farms accounting for over 500,000 acres of land across the 52nd Senate District. In Broome County alone, over 560 local farms pump over $20.9 million into our upstate economy. This year, just a few of our many local farms will open their doors so families can learn more about local agriculture and enjoy local goods produced right here in SD52. I hope families across our community can take some time to visit our local farms, learn and let our farmers know how much we appreciate their hard work."

Brian Aukema, CCE Educator and Farm Trail Organizer, said, "It is important for farmers to be able to share their farms with the public and educate them about local agriculture. So many people pass by farms today and don't understand what happens on them. This event provides a great opportunity to take many of the myths out of agriculture."
